The program is developed to block the internet home page of Internet Explorer users from being hijacked. It is capable of preventing access to any Web site not configured on the program. StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE Crack Mac is an old application, developed to help users prevent their Internet Explorer home page from being hijacked. It includes a simple configuration set that can be adjusted by any type of user, even the ones with limited or no experience in software programs. The installation steps are brief and do not need special attention. The program creates a new entry in the Start menu. Its interface is based on a regular window with a plain and simple structure, where the "what you see is what you get" principle clearly applies, since there are no other options available, aside from the ones visible in the main application window. It is possible to set the Internet Explorer start page to a custom address and apply the new setting with the simple click of a button. Aside from the fact that you can uninstall the program from the same area, there are no other notable features available. The tool uses a pretty low quantity of CPU and RAM, so it has minimal impact on system performance. It does not interrupt user activity either, because it quickly applies changes. As we have mentioned at the beginning of these lines, StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE has not received updates for a very long time, ever since it was made compatible with Windows XP, and it doesn't look like new improvements will be made in the foreseeable future. Although installing the tool on later operating systems is not a problem, StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE does not function properly. This free program is a simple application that allows its users to protect their Internet Explorer home page from being hijacked by third-party websites. The program is completely free to use, and the only requirement is to have access to a Windows operating system that is not running the recent update cycle, namely Windows XP, Windows Vista, and Windows 7. But, before being able to do this, you need to install the program on your computer and give it a try, as StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE offers a limited set of features that can only be used on a computer running at least Windows XP. StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE has two configuration windows that provide its users with the ability to tweak the entire features set, but for the limited time that the program has been released you can only make the changes available in the Personal tab. Both the Personal and Premium tabs are accessible from the main window, so you can install and use StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE without ever having to access the configuration options. StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE is fully compatible with Windows XP, Vista, and Windows 7. Due to the lack of updates, StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE did not receive any new features during the last year. It also appears that this program will no longer receive any updates. It does not seem likely that the developers will get another chance to test the application, since the operating system that is being used by the program is being phased out by Microsoft. As mentioned before, the interface is easy to use, because it consists only of a regular window with a plain and simple structure.

As far as the presentation of the StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE is concerned, there isn't much to say. It is possible to change the Internet Explorer start page to an individual address, using the "Web links of the company" option. You can then also make the current links "customizable", by using the "Apply" option. StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE asks for the folder where the configuration file is located on the hard drive. We also suggest that you apply the configuration file to the newly created folder, as this operation will prevent the next application update from erasing the changes you made. Once the configuration files is applied, you will be able to select your current StartPage Spyware Removal Tool for IE website, and click on the "Apply" button to apply the changes. After installing StartPage Spyware
